"I have been using Logical Position for SEO for approximately four years and using them for PPC for about two years. Prior to using LP, I was doing fine—but not great. They helped me get from good to great and practically doubled my business. Hiring an SEO company can be odd because there is nothing tangible that you receive for your money—and they say it takes several months to see results. Trusting the people at LP to handle my SEO and PPC was the best business decision I have made in years. Honestly, I would tell more people about them, but I don't want the competition!"

Solutions

To improve the visibility and authority of Jared Justice's online presence, Logical Position took a comprehensive SEO approach; LP focused on creating helpful, informative content to readily answer user queries. This strategy included optimizing new and existing pages with data-driven, keyword-focused metadata and content, as well as addressing technical issues, such as broken links, 404s, and improper canonical tags. LP's consistent work to provide search engines with a crystal-clear image of Mr. Justice's website drove record-level organic traffic and keyword rankings to the site.
